

PARENTS' NIGHT
AT JEFFERSON HI

Jefferson Union high school held Parent's Night on last Wednesday evening as part of the public schools' program in California. It was a great success. More than three hundred and fifty fathers and mothers and patrons of the school were in attendance. Every section of the Jefferson Union high school district was represented—Rockaway Beach, San Pedro, Visitation Valley, and Jefferson—including Daly City and Colma.

Principal James Ferguson had sent a personal letter to every parent, giving a special invitation to be present. He announced that there would be "an entirely different program" from what they had heard or seen before.

The main idea was to bring the parents and teachers together for the benefit of the pupils of the school. "The teacher's job has become too big for the teacher alone," Mr. Ferguson told the audience. "We need the parents' help and co-operation if we are to serve the children effectively," he said.

The program began in the auditorium with a demonstration of band rehearsal conducted by the leader, Mr. Harry Waters. The purpose of this was to show the steps through which a leader has to take students in order to build up a well balanced and competent band. The different groups of instruments were first played separately, representing the different parts, and then they were all played together, rendering the complete selection.

Mr. Ferguson announced that the members of the band had been practicing twice a week after school. He complimented both the pupils and Mr. Waters, their teacher, highly on the excellent progress they had made, and this met with a hearty response of applause by the audience.

Following the band demonstration, Miss Burfield's chorus rendered two selections, "The World is a Looking Glass," from the operetta "Miss Crutcher Returns," and "Our Dear Old High School." These were well received by the audience.

The parents were then dismissed from the assembly to attend the classes in the same order as the pupils do during the school day. Each period was ten minutes long, with three minutes allowed for passing. This enabled each teacher to explain the nature of the work in each recitation period, and to answer questions that might be asked by the parents.

At the end of the fourth period, three bells rang—a signal which calls everyone in school to the assembly hall. This call was for the purpose of having additional announcements made for the balance of the school session.

The principal took this occasion to explain the meaning of the different bells which are rung as signals during the day, and especially the fire alarm signal, which is two bells repeated in rapid succession.

The parents were then invited specially to visit the room set apart for the students belonging to the Scholarship Society. Here these students study without having a teacher in charge, and are given other privileges on account of their high standing in their studies. This, Mr. Ferguson explained, serves as a gradual development which prepares for the larger freedom and responsibilities these students find after they leave high school, and especially in college.

In the auto mechanics department the students were at work during the entire evening under their instructor, Mr. Claude Hackley. All varieties of work were being carried on from heating iron in the forge to the grinding of valves and making delicate engine adjustments on the cars in the shop. This was an attraction for the mothers as well as the fathers, and was watched with interest.

It had been announced in the principal's letter of invitation that the P. T. A. women would serve coffee and doughnuts after the program—"coffee with cream from contented cows, and doughnuts just like the doughnuts mother used to make—and maybe better." Also that "even Dad may have two doughnuts to Mother's one—maybe."

In the department of domestic science the P. T. A. held forth, and made good the promise made by Mr. Ferguson. Mrs. McKee, the president, was ably assisted by Mrs. Helen Cohn, Mrs. Jack Kennedy, Mrs. James Ferguson, Mrs. F. Dowdell, and Mrs. G. W. McIsaac, who is the incoming president of the association, and others.

The whole program was a pronounced success. Its purpose was to bring parents and teachers together and to have the parents better ac-

AMERICAN LEGION
RECEIVES CHARTER

Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion, did its stuff Friday evening, April 17, at the first "get-together." There was an assemblage of 120 persons, including members of the City Council, the Worthy President of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and representatives of the press, who were the specially invited guests.

After a brief business session, No. 410, was formally presented a temporary charter by officials from Department headquarters, who were loud in their praise of the splendid showing this organization has made in gaining a membership some 20 per cent over its quota for the current year.

This ceremony was followed by addresses by several speakers of high repute in Legion circles, whose remarks were well chosen for the occasion.

The local troop of Boy Scouts then gave a very interesting demonstration of some of the activities in which they are engaged, after which three acts of splendid vaudeville were presented, being thoroughly appreciated.

To cap the climax of an evening into which so many activities were crowded there came a feature known as "chow," which, in lieu of mess-kits, was served "a la civilian," and was interspersed with a few well chosen remarks by the distinguished personages who were the guests of honor, our mayor drawing a graphic picture of the relationship civil life bore to the military in the days of the big strife. Other members of the City Council commended the worthiness of civic welfare endeavor and the spirit of co-operation. Mr. Kost, representing the Eagles, endorsed the fundamentals of the Legion most heartily. "Doc," of course, did the honors.

The friendly spirit which prevailed throughout the evening left the impression that more gatherings of this nature would go far toward engendering an interest in our city that would be unique, in that it would make us all feel as though "that fellow must be O. K., for he lives in my town."

The members of the Post are highly elated over the splendid support they received from all those who helped to make this affair the grand success it proved to be, and also wish to express their appreciation of the work done by the ladies of the Unit.

The horseshoe contest on Sunday resulted in some heated debating as to the merits that lie in pitching from north to south, or vice versa, some of the contestants claiming that the magnetic attraction of the North Pole hampered their throw when pitching in a southerly direction. Be this as it may, some of the scores were terrible, some of them being as bad as 21 to 4, while one game wound up with the losing side registering only one point. Last Sunday was barbers' day, and you should see how these worthies run up a score; nothing to it; in fact, one of the players vowed he had not played in twenty years. Next Sunday's games at 10:30 as usual. Come around for a work-out.

EAGLES TO INITIATE CLASS

On Thursday evening, April 30, the Associated Aeries of San Mateo County, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold their monthly meeting in the Eagles Hall in Daly City. George S. Duddy, Worthy President of the State Aerie, will be a guest and will speak on Eagle activities throughout the state, also regarding the state convention to be held at Santa Rosa in June. A class of approximately thirty candidates, known as the "George Duddy class," will be initiated on that night, in honor of the Worthy President of the State Aerie. Another attraction will be the first appearance of the Colma-Vista Grande Aerie Eagles band.

C. E. PLAN CARNIVAL
IN GRACE CHURCH

The young people of Grace Presbyterian church will give a carnival on Tuesday evening, May 5, at 7:45. An evening of fun and clean happiness is planned. There will be no admission price, but everyone is asked not to leave their money at home, for the young people are going to use this carnival to help raise some money for the coming great Christian Endeavor convention which will be held in San Francisco in July.

quainted with the school work of their children; also to have them know more of the high school in general. This was accomplished in a manner that made everybody happy—the parents, the high school teachers and the faculty.

CHARTER MEMBER OF POST PASSES ON

Thomas Keenan, charter member of the new Veterans of Foreign Wars Post in Daly City, was laid to rest in the National cemetery, in San Francisco, last Saturday morning.

Mr. Keenan, who was visiting a friend at a down town hotel, Thursday morning, fell from an open window to the pavement, four stories below. He is survived by his wife and young son Richard, and his mother, Mrs. Edith Keenan. Old Glory and Jacob E. Smith Posts officiated at the burial ceremonies at Halstead parlors.

Wednesday of last week a group of Old Glory Post Auxiliary members visited the Jacob E. Smith Post Auxiliary of San Francisco. After the regular meeting the ladies enjoyed a game of "keeno." Those who attended from Daly City were Florence Nesby, Ethel Dorn, Blanch Allan, Della Campbell, Louise Refatti, Doris Pangburn, Camille Beckett.

MERCHANTS OPPOSE
FAST TEAM SUNDAY

Another fast baseball team, the Foster's Lunch aggregation, will oppose the Daly City Merchants next Sunday on the Jefferson Union high school diamond. The battle has been scheduled for 2 o'clock.

The visiting nine, managed by Joe Randall, boasts of a fighting spirit that is hard to equal. Al Cassili, pitcher, is tabbed as a tough customer, especially in the closing innings of a game. He improves as the old "soup bone" loosens up.

According to advance predictions, one of the features of this contest will be the batting of both lead-off men. Lopez, Foster's center-fielder, has a reputation of very seldom striking out, and enjoys a fair batting average, while George Rettig, local shortstop, has displayed almost identical strength for Daly City.

Manager Ed Cavnagaro is endeavoring to strengthen the Merchants with a hard hitting outfielder and equally strong infielder. The present team lacks the necessary punch in the pinches.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

A. M. Harrison, the popular plumber of 122 Woodrow street, was pleasantly surprised by a number of his friends last Monday evening, when they met at his home to congratulate him on his birthday. The surprise was complete so far as Mr. Harrison was concerned. Cards and games were enjoyed until a late hour, when Mrs. Harrison served a delicious luncheon. A birthday cake with (?) candles caused much fun and excitement. In the small hours of the morning the guests departed for home, wishing Mr. Harrison many more happy birthdays. Mr. Harrison received many gifts from his friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. D. P. O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lundy, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Trier, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Canine, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heim, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Collins, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Pangburn, Miss Vivian Herlitz, Mr. I. F. Brooker, Mr. A. Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Harrison.

EAGLES TO HONOR
STATE PRESIDENT

The Associated Aeries of San Mateo County will honor State President George Duddy with a class initiation on Thursday, April 31, in Eagles Hall, Daly City.

Eagles from South San Francisco, San Mateo, and Redwood City will gather at Daly City on the above date to honor their state president. The Eagles of California appreciate the great work Mr. Duddy has accomplished as president of the State Aerie, and regret that his term expires so soon, in June.

Mr. Duddy has always advocated the social and athletic movement among the young Eagles, between 18 and 25 years of age, and on this occasion will speak at length and outline a program by which Colma-Vista Grande Aerie will start a social and athletic program for the young men between 18 and 25 years of age.

Redwood City Aerie has a baseball team, and a volley ball team, and often have socials and parties. All of this is by and for the young members. And this will be the program in all Aeries in a few months.

The band of Colma-Vista Grande Aerie will play on this evening. Any young man wishing to join the band can practice with them every Wednesday evening at Mission street and Wellington avenue.

A committee will be formed from the young men to promote social and athletic movements. All young men will be the honored guests on the evening of April 31.

MRS. MARY BAKER PASSES ON

Mrs. Mary Baker, of Risel street, passed away suddenly at an early hour last Sunday at her home. Since her recent illness she had made her home in San Francisco with relatives. She had been confined to her bed in St. Mary's hospital with high blood-pressure, and had recovered sufficiently to be at home and attend to her duties. The Sunday preceding her unexpected death she had visited her neighbors on Risel street, and said she was feeling fine, so her death came as a blow to all who knew her. She leaves a son, Stanley S. Baker, and a daughter, Miss Lucille F. Baker, to mourn the loss of a devoted mother. She was the devoted sister of John, Henry and Abraham Harris and Mrs. D. McGrath, of Medford, Mass. Mrs. Baker was a native of County Cork, Ireland. She was a member of Court St. Marys No. 1155, C. D. of A., and Companions of the Forest of America, Excelsior Circle No. 2, and Waitresses Union, Local No. 48, and South of Market Club, Fraternal Brotherhood. The funeral took place last Monday from Monahan & Co. funeral parlors, Sixteenth and Dolores streets, at 9:15, thence to Our Lady of Perpetual Help church for requiem high mass at 10 A. M. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery.

LOMITA NINE WINS
IN TENTH INNING

By HAROLD MARTIN

Scoring three runs in the tenth inning and then choking Daly City's rally with a fast double play, the Lomita Park fire department chalked up an 8 to 6 victory last Sunday on Jefferson Union high school diamond.

From the very beginning this extra-inning contest promised to be a colorful affair. The large crowd on hand was treated with plenty of thrills, several long hits, and action galore.

"Lefty" Nelson, Lomita pitcher, was the outstanding star of the game. Although he was touched for fifteen hits, most of them went to waste. Only seven of the Merchants' total helped the run column. Lefty struck out eight men and walked an equal number. Nelson finished the day with a triple in the last frame, driving in the winning tally.

Bill Thompson started on the mound for Daly City, but after three innings he weakened. In the fourth stanza Bill issued two bases on balls and three singles, to cause his removal in favor of Manuel. Bud pitched three and one-third frames before losing control. The "Little Giant" Sam Hawley finished the game and was charged with the defeat after allowing six hits and three earned runs.

Stetter, Lomita's first baseman, carried off the batting honors with three bingles, including a triple and a double, in three times at bat. J. Walsh, Merchant's initial sacker, obtained the same number of hits in five trips to the plate, to lead the losing aggregation.

The fire department drew first blood in the fourth frame after both sides had threatened consistently in previous times at bat. McDonald led off with a single, stole second, and scored an Cooper's bingle to left, following Mann's strikeout. Stetter and Webster drew bases on balls. Schulz then hit a Texas leaguer to left field that scored Cooper and Stetter. Webster was thrown out at third and Nelson grounded to Toole, ending the rally.

Lomita's only run off Manuel was chalked up in the sixth. A single by Mann and a triple by Stetter accounted for the tally. The Merchants retaliated with a pair of runs in their half of the same inning. Toole drew a pass, Bonetti tripled, and Plansky singled to cause the damage.

Daly City tied the score at four all in the eighth. Plansky drew a base on balls, Manuel singled with two out, Rettig walked, and Hawley lined one through the infield to score the first two.

An error by Rettig and three singles in succession put Lomita out in front by one run again in the ninth. Al Toole doubled to start a rally in Daly City's half of the stanza, Bonetti sacrificed him to third, and Walsh doubled, scoring Al. Plansky was safe on an infield hit, and then Cameron and Manuel struck out in order, sending the battle into the tenth.

A single, double, triple and base on balls constituted the assault on Hawley in the extra inning, scoring three runs. Battling hard to overcome this lead, Rettig doubled to start the ball rolling. Hawley was safe at first on an error; and then Albrecht hit into a double play. Toole, Bonetti and Walsh all singled to fill the bags with one run across. Plansky flew out to shortstop to end the game. Boy, what a thriller.

John R. Stevenson will deliver an after the Resurrection message on Sunday morning during the 11 o'clock service, explaining the claims and abiding values of the Christian faith. In the evening the message in the 7:45 service will be "A Heroic Faith." Strangers are especially welcome in this cozy church.

TANFORAN RACES
CLOSE TOMORROW

Tanforan's twenty-one day racing meet will come to a close Saturday with the Au Revoir Handicap scheduled as the feature race of the closing day. The meeting this spring has been regarded as one of the most successful racing seasons the Pacific Coast has ever known, with some of the finest American horses participating and an impressive display of just what Western-bred horses can do.

Late in October the horses will return for a thirty-one day session at the San Bruno oval, and it is expected that the general program will be even better than it was the past three weeks, when many thousands of persons filled the big racing plant each day of the meeting.

Last week more than 25,000 gathered at Tanforan to honor Governor James Rolph, Jr., and to witness the Governor James Rolph, Jr., Handicap, which the noted mount, Alexander Pantages, captured with apparent ease and rewarded his backers handsomely. Tomorrow (Saturday) this horse will compete for honors in the Au Revoir Handicap, and may carry the top weight as favorite.

Attractive purses have been an outstanding feature of the meeting this spring, and officials have exerted every effort to keep the track free from shady practices. Riders have been severely dealt with, and several suspended for some infraction or other, the result of which has done much to improve the calibre of boys participating in the meeting.

It is expected that a record crowd will be on hand tomorrow (Saturday) for the final program and to see the last of the big stake races, in which a field equally as impressive as competed for the Governor's Handicap will be entered. Many of the horses leaving Tanforan will stop over for the one-day hunting meet at Menlo Park Sunday.

COUNTY FIREMEN
PUT ON GOOD SHOW

Plentiful applause and appreciation from an enthusiastic audience which attended the State Theatre last Wednesday night was convincing evidence that the type of entertainment put on by the Associated Firemen of San Mateo County met with the approval of the theatre-going public.

It surely was a great treat to witness the performance of an old-time minstrel troupe. The members of the cast, fifteen in number, in their usual black-face makeup, showed considerably ability. The numerous solo numbers were beautifully rendered, the jokes and comedy were pleasing, and what a chorus!

The show opened with the three boys from the South San Francisco fire department, who provided a very snappy musical number, being billed as "The Accordion Jazz Artists."

Bill Lacy, the well known artist on the other lanes of KYA, knocked 'em over with several well selected songs. The five young ladies of the O'Neill Kiddies' Revue were well received in their difficult dance numbers. And then came the feature of the evening, the "Old Homestead Minstrels."

If the foregoing comment seems excessive, the reader may rest assured of its complete sincerity. It means last Wednesday night's performance was one to be marked "with a white stone," as the Romans would say. It has been a long time since this community has had the pleasure of witnessing such a show. The show committee wishes to express its appreciation for the hearty co-operation of the genial manager of the Daly City Theatre and also the support of the Daly City Record. And the Association wishes to thank the patrons of this show for their splendid support.

EL CARMELO PARLOR
PLANS WHIST AND DANCE

The following members compose the committee in charge of the "sensational" whist and dance, sponsored by El Carmelo Parlor on Wednesday evening, May 20: Mrs. Margaret Steele, chairman; Mesdames C. Benasini, K. Wright, E. Schwarz, B. Grady, J. Sturla, M. Kane, M. Barner, M. Varni, H. Michelson, R. Mowry, B. Young, A. Bauer, R. Sweeney, M. Dalton, M. McDonald, H. McDonough, M. Arata, F. Popplano, P. Parnisano, R. Romiguire, M. Sturtevant, J. Doyle, A. Manning, A. Jones, T. Langford, A. Duery, A. Bodien, C. Ford, L. Fahey, S. Fischer, R. Mohr, L. Pescaro; the Misses E. Boyle, A. Kennedy, M. Zipser, E. Behringer, L. Walker, V. VerLinden, A. Barner, D. Gregoire, L. Krause, A. Bole, L. Fignoni.

Mrs. Steele was a visitor at Redwood City last Monday and wishes to express her thanks to her many friends there for their hearty encouragement.

TWO

JEFFERSON P. T. A.
SELECTS OFFICERS

The Jefferson Union High School Parent-Teachers' Association held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening, April 16. Although there were not a great many members present, the meeting was an interesting one owing to the fact that it was the meeting in which the new officers for the coming year were elected.

Those elected to hold office for next year were: President, Mrs. McIsaac;

Hon. Vice Pres., Mrs. Ferguson; Vice Pres., Mr. Biaggini; Secretary, Mr. Saiz; Treasurer, Mrs. Hackley; Financial Sec., Mrs. Quimbach; Auditor, Mrs. Brown; Historian, Mrs. McKee; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Jensen.

At the next meeting, May 21, the District President will be present to install the new officers. After the meeting is over, the new officers have promised to give a party to the retiring officers, to which every member is invited.

The meeting ended with home-made cakes and coffee served to all in the restaurant.

POPULAR DALY CITY GIRL
WEDS REDWOOD CITY MAN

At a lovely ceremony in Our Lady of Perpetual Help church, last Wednesday morning, Miss Adele Raffo, popular daughter of Mrs. A. Raffo, of Gambetta street, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Hecht, of Redwood City.

The bride wore a beautiful ivory satin Princess gown. This gown is a family heirloom and was handed down from an aunt of Miss Raffo's, and each bride of the family has worn it as her wedding gown. She wore the conventional tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white rose buds and lilies of the valley. The bridal gown was worn by Miss Genevieve Raffo at her wedding on October 5, 1930.

The bride was attended by Miss Caroline Kell, who wore a stylish pink gown and a picture hat to match. She carried a lovely bouquet of Cecil Bruener roses. Mr. Paul Hecht, a brother of the groom, was his attendant. During the ceremony, Mrs. Roy Allain, a sister of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning," and "Ave Maria." Miss Ruth Adams was the organist.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Louis Delfino. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Donohoe. After the ceremony, relatives and close friends attended the wedding breakfast at the bride's home on Gambetta street. About seventy-five guests sat down to an artistically decorated table. Orange blossoms and iris were used for floral decorations, the whole color scheme being carried out in pink and white. A doll dressed as a bride was the table centerpiece. The happy couple left for Carmel-by-the-Sea, where they will spend their honeymoon, and upon their return will make their home in Redwood City.

Mrs. Hecht was employed for several years past in the Daly City branch of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. Her many friends wish her and her husband bon voyage on the matrimonial sea.

K. OF C. INITIATION

On Sunday afternoon, April 19, the Knights of Columbus of Daly City initiated a class of fifteen members into the mysteries of the second and third degrees. Officers of San Mateo Council, K. of C., conferred the second third degree was Supreme Warden David E. Supple. After the initiation a banquet was served in the parish hall, attended by local knights and visitors from neighboring councils. degree, while the conferring officer of

CROCKER P. T. A. HAS INTERESTING MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of Crocker P. T. A. was held in the club rooms on Wellington avenue on Tuesday, April 14. Mrs. Julia V. Jordan presiding. Plans for the next two months were discussed and the chairman's reports read and received.

Election of officers for the coming year was held and plans for installation in May were discussed.

Mrs. Ethel Bolger reported a successful whist held in April and thanked those who assisted in making it a pleasant evening.

Mrs. Orville D. Pauw announced a "study circle" meeting to be held at her home on Thursday, April 23. It was decided to study the new bills pertaining to the school law which will be presented to the legislature in the near future. All the members who are interested are invited to attend these meetings.

The call to the Seventeenth District convention was read and delegates elected.

The new stove having arrived, a recess was declared so those present could examine and admire it, after which the meeting was turned over to the chairman for the day, Mrs. Helen Grantham, who had arranged an excellent program of music and dancing. Miss Jane Frances Reiman presented a piano solo; Miss Mary Swan and Miss Hazel Liljeborg danced in an unusually charming manner, the accompaniment being played by Mrs. Orville D. Pauw; after which Master Howard Standish played a piano solo.

The meeting then adjourned to the table, where the usual laughter and fun-making was somewhat silenced by the sad news of the passing of Prof. W. J. Savage, which occurred during the meeting hour.

The next meeting will be held on May 12, and all those interested are invited to attend.

AN ENJOYABLE SURPRISE
HOUSE WARMING PARTY

A group of friends of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Kramer, of Acton street, gathered at their home last Saturday evening and gave them a surprise house warming party in their lovely new and modern home, into which they moved several weeks ago. A most sociable and enjoyable evening was spent by the assembled guests, and at a late hour the following guests partook of delicious refreshments: Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Henry, formerly of Minneapolis, Minn.; Dr. and Mrs. J. Fillmore, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Workman, Miss Ruth and Chales Workman, Mr. and Mrs. G. Kramer and daughter Miss Grace Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bergesen and son Richard, Mrs. A. Moughton, Miss E. Scheetz, Miss Kathleen Moughton, Mr. E. Hart and Mr. V. Ruffin, of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. B. Noble, Mr. and Mrs. W. Waterman and sons Wilmoth and Fred, Mr. C. Fox, of Daly City; and Mrs. A. Long, of Tacoma, Wash.

A SURPRISE DINNER

Last Friday evening the Mutual Chorus of the L. D. S. church gave a delightful surprise dinner in honor of their leader, Mrs. Aaron Stowell, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Baggs, 630 Hanover street, Daly City. The dinner was composed of three courses. The tables were decorated with red and white roses. Covers were laid for twenty-two. The evening was spent with games and musical numbers, a delightful time being had by all. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Stowell and son, guests of honor; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Biggs, host and hostess; Bishop R. Vance Pearson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Uhlig, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. White, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lehner, Mrs. George Simister and son, Mrs. Vera Rust, Miss Vina Moore, Mr. Herbert Judson, Miss Alice Baggs and Mr. Lavern Baggs.

ENTERTAINS AT DUTCH WHIST

Mrs. H. Cliver, of San Diego avenue, was hostess at three tables of Dutch whist on Thursday afternoon of last week. This day was looked forward to and every one was ready for battle, so a very spirited game was the result. Mrs. V. Peterson carried home high honors. Delicious refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. E. Twisten, Mrs. A. Nylund, Mrs. L. Light, Mrs. C. Cochran, Mrs. A. Welch, Mrs. J. Sweeney and her daughter Mrs. R. Power, Mrs. Mr. White and her two daughters Mrs. M. Barr and Mrs. B. Cinnamon, of Oakland, Mrs. D. Putney and daughter Mrs. H. Cliver, Mrs. A. Jorgensen and her daughter Mrs. V. Peterson.

Mrs. M. White and Mrs. D. Putney attended the Silver Spray Degree of Honor in San Francisco last Monday evening. The Juveniles held their meeting first, after which they relinquished their chairs to the Degree officers, who initiated ten new members. The Degree has a very proficient drill team, and put on a very beautiful exemplification of the work, which was well worth seeing. A banquet was held after the meeting.

Airplanes are used by game protectors in several states in distributing food to birds and animals.

M. I. A. GLEANER GIRLS'
PROGRESSIVE DINNER

The M. I. A. Gleaner Girls entertained the M. Men at a progressive dinner last Saturday evening. The first course, a fruit cocktail, was served at the home of Drusilla Felsch, on Riesel street; the second course, "Butterfly salad," was served at the home of Betty Bevan, on Peninsula avenue. Then the party came back to Riesel street, and enjoyed the dinner course at the home of Della Butler, and the last course, a delicious desert, was served at the home of Charlotte Caldwell, on Irvington street. Later dancing and games were enjoyed. Those enjoying this novel and delightful affair were Claire Hansen, Della Butler, Drusilla Felsch, Vina Moore, Charlotte Caldwell, Grace Hill, Louise Kimball, Dorothy Hill, Marguerite Koeplin, Sylvia Evans, Betty Bevan, Emily Forsythe, and the Messrs. Max Edwards, Clair Tollstrop, Alex Forsythe, David Kimball, William Irwin, Harvey Robinson, Floyd Bevan, Thor Gjirclun, Wallace Ohran and Arnold Larson.

Mrs. R. Abbott, of Bellevue avenue, accompanied by Mrs. Stubbles, Mrs. J. E. Walker and Mrs. E. Bolger, attended the fourth annual convention of the Seventeenth District Congress of Parents and Teachers, held in the Little Theatre of the San Mateo Union high school, Thursday and Friday of last week, as delegates from the Crocker Parent-Teachers' Association. Fourth Vice-President of the District Mrs. L. Landini, of Winchester street, was present both days of the convention and it was she who presented the resolution concerning the conveyance of condolence of the assembly to the family of the late William J. Savage, who had been scheduled as a speaker from the advisory board on Thursday afternoon.

OUR FRIEND

Upon a drear and dismal day
Mr. Savage passed away.
The angels will take him above
Because his heart was full of love.

He had friends by the score;
They will love him for ever more.
It was sad, but God knows best
Why He took him home to rest.

ASSEMBLY APPROVES
COUNTY MEASURE

The San Mateo county government bill, raising the pay level of elective county officers from $3,600 to $3,900, and taking away all fee perquisites, except in the case of the county coroner and public administrator, bobbed up in the assembly county government committee in Sacramento last Tuesday morning, and was approved. The bill also contains the provision that no county officer may accept remuneration from any other source but his job, nor may he hold any other office. The provision eliminating appropriation of fees by county officers and that preventing officials from holding other jobs are practically identical with the clauses in the county government bill of two years ago, vetoed by Governor C. C. Young.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, San Mateo County, California.

Scaled bids will be received by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County, at his office, until 10 o'clock A. M., Monday, May 4th, 1931, for grading a portion of Sneath Road from the southerly boundary line of Sullivan Estate Company's 112.53 acre parcel of land to the easterly boundary line of the Ocean Shore Company's 19.62 acre parcel of land lying in the San Pedro Rancho and within the First Road District of San Mateo County.

Plans and specifications for this work are on file in the office of said Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, to which bidders are hereby referred.

All bids must conform to the proposal sheets to be obtained from the office of the County Surveyor of said County, at Redwood City, must give the prices proposed, both in writing and figures, and must be signed by the bidder with his address.

The bid is to be accompanied with a certified check or bidder's bond equal to ten (10) per cent of the total of the bid, upon condition that if said bid shall be accepted, the party bidding will duly enter into the contract and faithfully perform his contract in accordance with his bid and the plans and specifications. Such check shall be made payable to the County of San Mateo.

A common law bond will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in such sum as shall be fixed by the said Board of Supervisors after the bids are opened; said sum shall be not less than one-fourth (1/4) and not more than one-half (1/2) of the estimated amount of the contract; and a further bond in a sum equal to one-half (1/2) of the estimated amount of the contract must be furnished as required by the terms of an Act entitled, "An Act to secure the payment of claims of material men, mechanics, or laborers employed by the contractors upon state, municipal, or other public work," approved March 27, 1897, and acts amendatory thereof.

The contractor to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to appear at the office of the County Surveyor with the sureties offered by him, and execute the contract within ten (10) days from the date of the mailing of a notice from the County Surveyor to him that the contract is ready for signature, and in case of failure or neglect to do so, he will be considered as having abandoned it and the check shall be forfeited to the said County of San Mateo.

Bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors and must be endorsed "Bids for grading portion of Sneath Road, from the southerly boundary line of Sullivan Estate Company's 112.53 acre parcel of land to the easterly boundary line of the Ocean Shore Land Company's 19.62 acre parcel of land, First Road District, San Mateo County."

Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated: April 13, 1931.

E. B. HINMAN,
Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, San Mateo County, California.

"hello London

IN 1/30 of a second, your voice flashes across continent and ocean. Another modern miracle!

Astounding, too, are these communication facts: This state has more than 6,150,000 miles of transmission lines—in addition to ever-expanding radio facilities. And Californians transmit approximately 7 million telephone calls, telegrams and commercial radio messages daily.

Communication companies in California have invested $413,000,000 and employ some 40,500 workers.

Of these employees, more than 10,000 are Bank of America depositors. And this Bank is privileged to serve the leading telephone, telegraph and commercial radio companies operating in California.

With their far-flung organizations, these companies require exceptional statewide banking facilities. Conservatively managed and charged with great responsibility to government and public, they choose their banking connections with extreme care.

Especially significant, therefore, is the selection of Bank of America by these leaders in public service—and by so many thousands of their employees. Do not these facts suggest the most desirable bank for you?

COURTESY TO FIESTA TOURISTS IS URGED

With indications pointing to a record-breaking influx of motor tourists during 1931, California Fiesta Year, a suggestion has been received by the public safety department of the California State Automobile Association that a state-wide effort be made to impress visitors with the courtesy of Californians as well as the climate, scenery, and entertainment events.

The proposed campaign of courtesy would have the object of impressing motorists and other residents of the state with the desirability of a considerate and hospitable attitude toward the throng of visitors. It is suggested that this cordial spirit of welcome could be carried into effect by executives of railroads, oil companies, bus lines, air lines, service stations, stores, hotels, and every activity coming into contact with the Fiesta Year tourists.

While the suggestion has been made primarily with a view to making the Fiesta Year visitors feel at home and enjoy their stay in California, it is recognized that the plan would be a desirable preparation for the reception of thousands who will come to the state in 1932 from all parts of the world for the Olympic Games.

Not only will these visitors be present to witness the games and tour California, but they will include hundreds of special writers representing leading publications in Europe. It is regarded as important that these writers shall comment favorably upon the attitude of Californians in the matter of courtesy and hospitality.

Another beneficial effect of this concentrating attention upon courtesy, it is declared, would be to establish the practice of politeness. It has been noted by travelers abroad that foreigners are never too busy to be courteous to each other and to visitors. The fact that the courteous driver is the safest driver has been frequently emphasized by the Association public safety department.

What has become of the old fellow who thought a question could be settled by passing a law?

We read of a fight between a carpenter and an ice man. A hammer and tongs affair, we imagine.

CALIFORNIA PRESSES N. Y. IN AUTO TOTAL

Motor vehicle registration figures compiled by the California State Automobile Association show that California last year again closely pressed New York for the lead in total number of cars. The figures show the following:

California — 2,099,293, including 1,941,969 passenger automobiles.

New York — 2,347,011, including 1,926,013 passenger automobiles.

With the 1930 census giving California a population of 5,677,251, the state remained far in the lead of New York and every other state in the proportion of motor vehicles to the number of residents. California has one motor vehicle for approximately every 2.8 persons.

The California registration represented an increase of about 67,000 over 1929. In addition to passenger cars the total included 83,887 pneumatic tire trucks, 15,500 solid tire trucks, 38,969 pneumatic tire trailers, 9,563 solid tire trailers and 9,405 motorcycles.

California and New York were the only states with a total registration of more than 2,000,000. Six states had a registration of more than a million each, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Texas. The total for all states and the District of Columbia was 26,523,777.

HIS IDEA OF IT.

It was Sunday morning in a church school.

"Will you please tell me," said a member of the teacher, "how far in actual miles Dan is from Beersheba? All my life I have heard the familiar phrase 'from Dan to Beersheba,' but I have never known the distance.

Before the answer could be given, another member arose and inquired: "Do I understand that Dan and Beersheba are the names of places?"

"Yes."

"That is one on me. I always thought they were husband and wife, like Sodom and Gomorrah."—The Churchman.

It is distressing to note the cynicism of a sports writer who suggests that the Chattanooga team signed up that girls pitcher for the sake of publicity.

Linger at Stage Doors for "Closeup" of Stars

Familiar among Broadway's night sights are the small crowds who gather near stage doors after the show is over. Usually between the hours of eleven and twelve they are to be found waiting for their favorite star to emerge. They stand with a rather quiet expectancy. Every time the stage door opens they push forward eagerly, often to be disappointed when an overall-clad stage hand makes his exit lugging a trunk or piece of scenery. When the long-awaited star does come out they crowd about, asking questions, bestowing adoration and pushing forward to obtain a better view. Some fans come with photographs to be signed. Others seek a star's autograph on a program, while still others want to see what their favorite performer looks like away from the footlights.

Some nights an actor or actress is in a hurry and, desiring to avoid the crowd, leaves by a different exit. The stars use various ruses to get away in a hurry, sometimes telling the doorman to notify the crowd that so-and-so will not leave the theater for a few hours.

Publicity's Value Well

Known to the Ancients

More than 3,000 years ago, according to the London Morning Post, the Egyptians devised innumerable methods of bringing their names before the public; and by inscriptions, by historic monuments, and by the literature of the period, they left to posterity the records of a complete and systematic scheme of advertising.

In certain respects they made even more extensive use of publicity than does the present age. In the reign of Tutankhamen, doctors, unlike the modern practitioner, were allowed to advertise their remedies; and one of the more subtle methods used to attain this end was to compel patients on swallowing specific medicines to cry out, "A really excellent remedy proved a million times!" The art of repetition was thoroughly understood by Egyptian publicists; and it was customary to stamp wine jars with the word "Good" thrice repeated. Similarly they were well aware of the value of disguised advertisements; and experts now declare that the temples of ancient Egypt were in nearly every case built to advertise the power of Egypt's rulers. They were covered with accounts of victories achieved, and records of cities conquered.

Rubber Growth Experiments

Rubber plants that are native to dry regions are being tested in California, in the coast districts as well as in the interior valleys. Several dry-country rubber plants are known in Mexico, while others are reported in South America, Africa and Madagascar. The production of rubber from the Mexican quayule plant (Parthenium argentatum) has been investigated carefully by a private corporation and the stage of agricultural practicability is believed to have been reached in California. The quayule rubber plants in Arizona and California amount to several hundred acres.

Famous Tapestry

The Gobelin tapestries originated in the work of a former dyer, named Gobelin, who in the Fifteenth century came from Reims to Paris, the family having discovered a marvelous scarlet dye which attracted great attention. In the Sixteenth century to the manufacture of dyes was added the manufacture of tapestry, which founded the fortune of the family. Some of the family were granted titles of nobility and some became leading statesmen of France. In the reign of Louis XIV, the government took over the Gobelin tapestry manufactures and they remain a state activity.

Long-Lived Moon Superstition

Old foresters have the strongest opinions as to the influence of the moon on timber. In the royal ordinances of France for the conservation of forests, it was laid down that timber, especially oaks, should be felled only during the wane of the moon, and the belief—superstition, if you like to call it so—still persists both in France and England. The idea is that timber felled at these times is less liable to rot than when felled during the wax. The belief dates right back to Roman times.

Benedict Arnold

Authors differ on the birth date of Benedict Arnold. Appleton's Cyclopaedia and Lippincott's Biographical Dictionary both state he was born January 3, 1740. Lossing's Cyclopaedia of History gives the time as January 3, 1741. A carefully prepared and impartial history of the American traitor of Revolutionary times was written by Hon. Isaac N. Arnold, who fixes his birth date on January 14, 1741, and his death on June 14, 1801, in London.

Stage Versions Differ

Both versions of the play "Macbeth," by Shakespeare, are given—with the ghost of Banquo appearing in the banquet scene, and without it. The Ben Greet Players, producers of what is known as pure Elizabethan drama, do not show the ghost at the banquet table, as this is a deviation from the true Shakespeare. Other companies, having in mind the dramatic effect of its appearance, show the ghost of Banquo, with weird lighting effects.

AN INVITATION TO THIEVES

Auto theft records indicate that there are still many trusting motorists who leave their cars unlocked, and even with the motor running, while away from the machine for a short time.

Motorists indulging in this practice should attempt to break the habit, advises the theft bureau of the California State Automobile Association. Not only is it against the law to leave a car with the motor running, but it is an open invitation to the auto thief for a quick getaway. Thieves will speed, of course, to get as far as they can as quickly as possible. Often a machine is found badly damaged when recovered.

All the speed any emergency can ever demand.

All the style by which the new Studebaker are so instantly recognizable.

All the stamina which Studebaker Championship records have proved repeatedly.

ALL this, plus the most important advance in motoring since the electric starter—Free Wheeling with positive gear control!

Free Wheeling, pioneered by Studebaker, has swept the nation. Other motor car builders have adopted it—notably Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln. Others will follow.

But right now, in a Free Wheeling Commander, you can enjoy the thrill of unfettered travel, carried instead of barred by the force of momentum!

You will enjoy it doubly, because it will save you 15 to 20% on gasoline and oil. Out of each 10,000 miles you travel, the Commander's velvet 101-horsepower engine works but 8,000 miles.

Every curve and crossing, every occasion for slowing down or gear change, will bring you added satisfaction, as you shift silently, easily, without touching the clutch.

Public highway and traffic officials from coast to coast have pronounced Studebaker's Free Wheeling with positive gear control a distinct contribution to highway safety.

Think ahead before you buy. Ask yourself: "How new is any 'new' car without Free Wheeling?" How much will it re-sell for a year or two from now?

PROTECTING THE CHILD

Many communities are planning programs for May Day emphasizing child health and accident prevention. This is part of the year-round safety campaign conducted by schools and various child protective organizations.

At a time when accidents and deaths to adults have constantly risen, child fatalities have been on the down grade. This is the direct result of the teaching of fundamentals of accident prevention and good health in schools. It is an invaluable work, not only because of the lives now being saved, but because it is paving the way for safer streets, highways and homes in the future.

The astonishing total of accidents among adults is largely due to their refusal to take safety teaching seriously. The child's mind, being malleable and open, is extremely receptive to safety instruction when presented vividly and in an interesting manner. And that which is learned in the primary and grade schools, by the child, will be part of his character as an adult.

There is nothing esoteric about safety. It is the simplest of things, depending on a few commonsense rules and principles. Care, watchfulness, courteousness—such factors as these, that can be exercised by every one, young or old, can almost wholly do away with accidents of all kinds. Carelessness, slothfulness and incompetence are now claiming thousands upon thousands of lives each year—more than 30,000 in automobile accidents alone.

WHY AN AUTO CENSUS?

Motorists are being approached in some parts of the state by canvassers for a purported "automobile census for the state," according to reports reaching the California State Automobile Association. Following many inquiries from members who had been subjected to questioning on various details of their car ownership, the Automobile Association communicated with Frank G. Snook, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles. Snook replied as follows:

"No one is authorized by this Division to take an automobile census in this state. We know nothing of the activity and if such a census is being taken it is being done without the authority of this Division."

While the object of those engaged in making the alleged "census" has not been disclosed, it is obvious that the effort has no official sanction and that such information as may be obtained from car owners is intended for some private purpose. Motorists are under no legal obligation to supply such information to the self-styled "census takers."

FIRE PERIL AND THE MOTORIST

With the state of California facing one of the most serious fire threats in many years, motorists and campers generally should exercise unusual care and caution, it is declared in a statement by E. B. DeGolia, chairman of the forestry committee of the California State Automobile Association. Lack of rainfall, he points out, has made the coming season one of the most dangerous California has faced in a long time from a fire standpoint.

Unless there is a considerable amount of additional rain, fires will not only be easier to start, because of the dry condition of fields and forest, but they will be much harder to control, once they have started. Every precaution should be taken against the casting aside of burning matches, cigarettes, cigar stubs or pipe tobacco embers, and particular care should be used in the building of camp fires and in seeing that they are properly extinguished before they are left.

This danger calls for the earnest and thoughtful co-operation of the motorists and all others who venture into those outdoor areas where the least carelessness may start a disastrous fire. It is only by everyone taking the situation closely to heart as a personal responsibility that we will be able to combat the fire hazard successfully and prevent great losses of timber, crops, and human life and the devastation of fine scenic areas.

The Stop Forest Fires committee of California has launched a vigorous educational effort designed to enlist greater public co-operation in fire prevention and control. A state-wide slogan contest is in progress in the schools and colleges for cash prizes totaling $200, to be awarded for phrases emphasizing the need for protecting forests from destruction by fire. Widespread response to the contest is reported by the committee, which is receiving entries mailed to 150 Van Ness avenue, San Francisco. The contest closes at midnight, April 30.

THIRTEEN MILLION USE GAS

Approximately 13,700,000 families cook with gas. This is almost twice as many as use any other kind of fuel. Hundreds of thousands of these families are employing gas for central heating. In both home and industry, the cleanliness, economy, automatic control and smokelessness of gas have made it the modern fuel.

Our pessimism has been somewhat shaken by the fact that Chicago finally repudiated "Big Bill" Thompson.

"Fish Supply Subject of Investigation."—Headline. Someone is probably compiling a sucker list.

POPULAR SPEAKER PASSES

It was a shock to the nation to learn of the death of Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House of Representatives, which occurred on April 9, after only a few days' illness from pneumonia. Tributes to his memory by persons in every walk of life have been profuse and sincere.

Mr. Longworth was born in Cincinnati on November 5, 1869, and was graduated from Harvard in 1891, later receiving his law degree from the Cincinnati Law School, and being admitted to the bar in 1894.

He served in both branches of the Ohio legislature before his election to Congress in 1903, since which time he served continuously in the national House of Representatives except one term, 1913-1915, when he was temporarily succeeded by a Democrat. He became Republican floor leader in 1923 and speaker in 1925.

His marriage to Alice Lee Roosevelt, daughter of the then President Theodore Roosevelt, took place in the White House on February 17, 1906. One daughter, Paulina, was born to the Longworths.

During his long and useful public career, Nicholas Longworth was one of the most beloved characters in our national life, admired and respected alike by political friend and foe. His passing is a distinct loss to his country, which he served so faithfully and well.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT

In spite of the many legal safeguards which surround those accused of crime, a good many innocent persons suffer imprisonment, and even death, as the result of perjured or otherwise unreliable evidence. A few instances are related by Margaret W. Stewart of the Library of Congress in a recent article.

There is the case of William Wilson of Alabama, convicted in 1914 on the charge of murdering his wife and given a life sentence. After he had served more than three years the supposedly dead woman was found living in Indiana, and Wilson was pardoned. He was given $3,500 by the state as partial recompense for his wrongful imprisonment.

Another victim, J. B. Brown, of Florida, served twelve years for a murder of which he was finally found entirely innocent. The state gave him $2,492 in installments, or about $200 for each year in prison.

Mississippi was not quite so liberal with Moses Walker, who served five years under a false charge, but he was awarded $500 on his release.

These payments by the states concerned were made through the passage of special bills by their legislatures. Two states, North Dakota and Wisconsin, have permanent laws providing compensation for wrongful imprisonment.

It is hard to imagine anything more tragic than the punishment of an innocent person. When such unhappily occurs, it seems that compensation should be made a fixed public policy in every state. No money payment can really compensate for the mental and physical suffering experienced by the victim of false imprisonment, but it would at least assist him in making a new start in life.

AID FOR HOME BUILDERS

How France solved its acute housing problem after the World war is told in a recently published article, which discloses that within the last ten years, the French government has contributed directly more than two hundred million dollars toward the cost of operating housing projects.

Simultaneously, there has been a marked increase in the number of organizations engaged in solving housing problems. Since July, 1928, the number of companies constructing low cost dwellings has risen from 752 to 1,059, while building loan societies augmented their numbers from 176 to 275. Official bureaus for the acceleration of such construction rose from 218 to 274.

The government aids housing projects in three ways—by loans at a low rate of interest, by outright subsidies, and by certain exemptions from taxation. During the period from 1921 to the end of 1930, state loans amounted to $183,000,000, and subsidies to $621,649,611. Exemptions from taxation during 1929 totaled about $330,000.

Aside from this stimulation of low-cost construction, the government advances further aid for the building of dwellings that are classified as "moderate rental" houses. To date, these advances in loans or otherwise amount to about $13,548,288, whereby some 5,000 moderate rental houses have been provided.

The housing problem, which grew out of the tremendous influx of population following the World war, is being well taken care of in this way.

GOVERNOR TO VISIT COLMA

Leaders of the district and Missionists in general, as well as those of Daly City and peninsula cities and towns, have been cordially invited to attend the celebration and banquet to be given in honor of Governor James Rolph, Jr., under the auspices of the Colma Chamber of Commerce, of which "Mayor" Joe Garibaldi is president. Reservations are already being received by the general committee in charge and a representative gathering of political, civic, business, and war veteran leaders are planning to attend.

The affair is to be held on Saturday night, May 2, which has been designated by the Chamber of Commerce and Colma officials as "James Rolph Night," when the entire town will turn out to pay their respects to the chief executive of the state. A committee of 100 citizens will greet His Honor on the outskirts of the city, and he will be escorted to Colombo Hall, where the fete is to be held, by and automobile caravan headed by the general committee chairmen, who are as follows: General Chairman, Frank Garibaldi; Entertainment, Judge Arthur Knute; Reception, Timothy F. Haggerty and James Casey; and Greeters, Edward J. Ford and James Grondona.

VISIONS FUTURE MOTOR CARS

A scientist's idea of what the 1960 automobile may be is described in a report received by the California State Automobile Association. According to Professor A. M. Low, children now growing up will ride in a cigar-shaped projectile, practically silent, luxuriously comfortable, and with an engine as small as the present day gear box. One of the features of the 1960 car, he says, will be effortless control, all driving operations being engine-assisted. He suggests also that cars may ultimately be able to fly, and that power will be obtained from electric cables beneath the roads.

"REDUCING" LAID IN BEAUTY PARLOR

Picture Marie Dressler and Polly Moran running a beauty parlor! That's what they do in their latest co-starring picture, "Reducing," which will be the attraction at the Daly City Theatre next Friday and Saturday.

According to Director Charles Riesner, considerable search was made for a story which would be a worthy successor to "Caught Short," the previous Dressler-Moran hit.

The search was ended when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executives read the hilarious synopsis of "Reducing," concerned with the happenings in a salon for reducing excessive avoirdupois. Miss Dressler, as the country sister of Polly, the prosperous beauty parlor owner, is reported to display her usual penchant for combining uproarious comedy with a penetrating character portrayal, in the manner of her recent success in "Min and Bill." It seems that Miss Moran has also never been seen to greater advantage as the "tony" proprietress who is constantly embarrassed by the clumsy antics of her sister from "the sticks."

The fun starts when Polly initiates her sister into the mysteries of beauty parlor contrivances. Poor Marie manages to push all the wrong buttons, and consequently a number of unexpected things happen.

It is also said that an interesting double romance was especially inserted into the plot so that the audience would have an opportunity to catch their breath between laugh episodes. Anita Page, who played the principal supporting role in "Caught Short," is again seen in a prominent part and the cast also includes Lucien Littlefield as Miss Dressler's mail-carrier husband; William Collier, Jr., as the juvenile "heavy"; Sally Eilers, last seen opposite Buster Keaton in "Dough Boys," as Miss Moran's sophisticated daughter; William Bakewell as the "home-town boy," and Billy Naylor and Jay Ward as Miss Dressler's youngsters, whose facility for getting into mischief furnishes material for many of the hilarious episodes.

Money to Burn

By Peter B. Kyne

CHAPTER XI—Continued

"I came to ask you why you went back on me the way you did," the girl's voice came to the listeners. It was hard and high-pitched. She was coldly furious.

"You know now why I went back on you. I don't like the company you keep."

"What's wrong with the company?" "His police record is over there on the whatnot. Want a look at it? Perhaps you'd like to verify his photograph with the original and check up on his Bertillon measurements."

"Quit stalling, Mae, and get down to business," Colorado Charley growled testily.

"I told you, Charley, that if I heard one little peep out of you I'd knock you for a double loop," Elmer reminded his unwelcome guest. "I admit I went back on my promise to lend Doris or Mae or whatever her name is a thousand dollars, but I'm not going back on my promise to you."

There was a suppressed scream, the sound of shuffling feet, the crash of furniture—silence! Nellie trembled violently and turned a white pitiful face to Detective Sergeant Fahey, who laid his great paw on her little brown hand.

"Can the kid go some?" he demanded fiercely. "Maybe I'd better pop out an' see if Colorado Charley has done for him with a knife. He always carries one."

"Elmer can whip his weight in wildcats," Nellie faltered bravely.

"He's spollin' everything for us," Detective Sergeant Lipowsky complained bitterly. "He don't run true to form. We figured he'd wilt; figured they'd scare him to death and get all the cash he has on hand now and a promissory note for the balance, when we could nab 'em for blackmail. As it is he ain't give them a chance to make their proposition, so what've we got to hang a case on?"

"He's a bonehead!" Detective Sergeant Fahey hissed. "He's a hick! But, Lord, how I love him!" he added.

Nellie looked up at him gratefully. "You're a dear," she said simply.

A voice came out of the dictograph again. Elmer was speaking. "While dear Charley is wandering in dreamland, Doris, suppose you spill your bad news."

"My dear Elmer," the girl replied in dulcet tones, "we didn't come here to spill any bad news. All we wanted was an explanation of your curious and embarrassing action in ordering payment stopped on your check."

"I've explained," said Elmer grimly. "So you have, Elmer. But that alleged criminal record you allude to doesn't prove my brother is a criminal. I know he isn't. And I haven't heard you say you have a criminal record of me. If you had, I imagine you'd confront me with it."

"I haven't—but I have hopes. The unknown friend who sent me the information on Charley may develop additional interest and send me news of you."

"You seem to forget that I am your fiancée."

"You're right—I do. I never was your fiancée. I never asked you to marry me."

"Well, you certainly gave me the impression that we were engaged. The letters you wrote me will be rather hard to explain, and I'm here to tell you that no small-town sheik can treat me the way you've treated me and get away with it."

"Oh, I expected to be blackmailed under threat of a suit for breach of promise!"

"Blackmail? I have said nothing about blackmail. I am not here to threaten you, Elmer. I came up to talk the situation over sensibly."

"That isn't possible. I'm one of those fellows who will not be blackmailed, cajoled, threatened or persuaded. I know what you have in mind and a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. . . . Hello, Charley, did the little birdies sing sweetly to you while you were out? Pick yourself up off the floor, you swine, and betake yourself and your partner out of here. On your way, both of you!"

"Come, Harvey," Doris urged complacently. "I will ask Mr. Clarke to explain to me at a more appropriate time—say in the midst of his campaign for mayor. You dirty skunk," she added, her fury gaining control at last, "I'll make you feel as ridiculous as you've made me feel. That much at least I can do and you watch me do it. I didn't come here to blackmail you but—"

"Yes, yes, I know my letters to you will look silly in the public prints, but I'll be shot if I'll buy them back," said Elmer Clarke.

"No?" The girl's voice rose sneeringly. "Evidently you've forgotten all the drippy things you wrote me. I'll send you copies to refresh your memory and induce a change of mind on your part, little boy friend."

"How much do you want for them?" Elmer demanded.

"Ah-hah! So you are interested, aren't you? Well, Elmer, those letters will cost you tonight exactly five thousand dollars in cash, and a promissory note for one hundred thousand secured by an assignment of an interest for that amount in your Uncle Elmer's estate. You come to Los Angeles and my lawyer will arrange the details."

"But this is blackmail," Elmer protested.

"I dislike the word. Call it heart balm," the girl corrected him. "You can give me your check for the five thousand now. I'll take a chance on your not stopping payment this time."

"I am a high-priced writing man, am I not?" Elmer retorted good-naturedly. "Doris, dear one, I didn't have the slightest idea of capitulating. I merely had a curiosity to know what price you'd ask. Now that I know it, I'm no longer interested. Really, I wouldn't give you a canceled postage stamp for all those letters. Get out, and many thanks to you for the extremely cheap education you've lavished on me. You're the first woman I've ever made an ass of myself over. Doris, and you'll be the last. The next sweetheart I have is going to be a regular girl. Charley! Don't linger. Nighty-night!"

There was the sound of a door closing. Silence.

CHAPTER XII

Out in the garage Detective Sergeant Fahey and Lipowsky exchanged glances. "I thought the boy was going to spill the beans on us, Lippy," Fahey declared, "but at the finish he sure came through noble."

"No thanks to him," growled Lipowsky. "He was just kiddin' them. Well, we've got enough on them to make the pinch as soon as they get back to Los Angeles. No use botherin' ourselves with them now. They got return tickets."

"Women ain't got no sense," Fahey decided. "Get 'em mad an' they'll tell everything they know—present company excepted," he added gallantly. "I don't suppose you're goin' to tell Elmer all you know, are yuh?"

"Indeed not! That would only embarrass him."

Lipowsky winked at Fahey. "Don't you think Elmer's awfully courageous?" Nellie pleaded.

"I dunno whether he's courageous or crazy or a plain boob, but whatever makes him go the way he does, I'm for him. Well, guess our job's done—all except gettin' that dictograph out of the house."

"It's Jasper's day off tomorrow," Nellie informed him. "I'll make Elmer take me to luncheon and then you can run over and get the dictograph. If I were you I'd wind up the wire as far as the back of the house tonight; otherwise Elmer will find it in the morning. You can coil it and conceal it in the grass."

Fahey winked at Lipowsky. "Meanwhile," Nellie continued, "I'm going home. I'll send Captain Fitzgerald a copy of the transcript of my notes tomorrow. Why do you not asrest those wretches tonight?"

"We're out of our own jurisdiction. Of course we can make the pinch if you want us to, but we'll have to call in the local dicks, and then the news would be all over town in the morning. Better let us handle these birds in Los Angeles. We might get their shyster lawyer, too."

"Go to the head of the class, Mr. Fahey. Thank you very much. Good night."

She slipped noiselessly out the door into Hazel drive. On that street, midway between C and B streets, she could see a man and a woman, the man struggling along under the burden of a suitcase and a bag. So Nellie crossed to the other side of Hazel drive, in order to place distance between herself and Elmer should he chance to be standing on his front porch, and hurried away in pursuit of the couple. She watched them turn in at the principal garage.

"Going to hire a car and go on to San Jose for the night," she thought. "I'll find out."

She followed boldly into the garage, not thirty feet behind them, and stood listening to Colorado Charley bargaining with the night manager for a closed car to take himself and wife to San Jose. When they started a few minutes later Nellie Cathcart hired another closed car and followed. At a third-rate San Jose hotel—which was, however, a first-class hotel in comparison with the Palace hotel in Pilarcitos—Colorado Charley and his companion registered as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skidmore, of Los Angeles, and retired for the night.

Nellie immediately returned to Pilarcitos and crept silently into the Tully home at one o'clock a. m. She did not go to bed immediately, however, but took down the telephone receiver and called for Mr. Fahey at the Palace hotel.

The detective got out of bed and came downstairs to the telephone booth.

"Fahey talkin'?"

"This is your female accomplice, Mr. Fahey. Please forgive me for getting you out of bed, but I have news of importance to communicate. I followed those people. They hired a car at the Main Street garage and Charley told Mr. Bass, the night manager, that he wanted to hire it for himself and his wife. Mark that. Himself and his wife. Go right down to see Mr. Bass and remind him that he rented a car tonight to a man and his wife and see that he remembers it so well he will not be liable to forget it."

"That wife stuff is good?"

"Well, that couple are now asleep at the Garden City hotel, in San Jose, and registered as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skidmore, of Los Angeles."

"Naughty, naughty!"

"This is a decent, respectable country, Mr. Fahey. We believe in conserving morals and protecting the home and we have no sympathy for strangers who play fast and loose with the reputations of our hotels. I'm scandalized."

"I'm blushin' like a rose myself," said Detective Sergeant Fahey. "Now, lemme get the straight of this. About nine o'clock tomorrow mornin' them two indiscreet people will be boardin' the Shore Line Limited to return to Los Angeles. Well, here's where I miss a whole lot more sleep. I suppose you want me to drive up to San Jose, have a confidential talk wit' the chief of police an' ask him, as a courtesy to a brother chief, to pinch Charley an' Mae on a charge of social vagrancy, chuck 'em into stir an' make the ball the limit."

"That'll mean they'll have to stay in stir until they can raise bail. Maybe they can't. Maybe they ain't got friends that can be reached in a hurry. Still, that lawyer of theirs might bail them out, but on the other hand he might not. He'd probably get suspicious an' figure your little boy friend had been too smart for him."

"Why, of course he'll be suspicious an' drop that case like it was a hot stove. I'll see to that myself. I'll phone Fitzgerald an' he'll phone that

Picture Earth's Core as Holding Rich Treasure

A bonanza beyond belief exists from two to three thousand miles below the surface of the earth, according to two geophysicists of the Carnegie Institute of Washington. From all the known data these scientists infer that this planet is a solid ball of nickel and iron enclosed in three shells of rock.

Conjecture how the financial giants could cash in on that, were it accessible, if from mere pinpricks on the surface they pile up millions! But the scientists follow with the information that a shaft more than 2,000 miles deep would have to be sunk to reach the riches. It is doubtful if all the wealth in the world would pay for excavating a small fraction of the distance.

The core, according to the scientists' theory, is surrounded by three shells. The first is of granite, about 35 miles; the second of basaltic rock, increasing in density for about 1,000 miles, and the third of heavy rock impregnated with iron, or nickel and iron for 1,000 to 1,500 miles.

A number of German explorers who have just returned to Capetown from the Ngami lake district in Africa report that Lake Ngami was formerly a deep lake 20 miles long and 10 miles wide. Today it is very shallow and almost dry, because, according to the natives, rats had stopped a number of rivers from flowing into it.

Inky Bath of Mud

The Czechs have at Pstany a famous mud bath which is worth seeing, even if you do not take it. It is a pitch black mineral mud deposited in the water courses of the springs in great quantities. A thick layer is spread on a sheet, on which the patient lies, while the mud is hot. Attendants plaster it over the body till the patient looks like an armored knight—the black prince, if you like. Then, after being swathed in it for about ten minutes, the perspiration being wiped from the face at intervals, the patient is immersed in the mud bath, the mud at the bottom and the hot water being impregnated with sulphur.

Six wells in the north dome of the Kettleman Hills oil field must cut production of natural gas under an injunction issued by Superior Judge S. L. Strother. Three of the wells are operated by the Standard Oil Company.

Farm labor employment has begun in southern Alameda county, it was learned with the announcement that scores of men are being hired to thin apricots in the orchards near Niles. The apricot crop is said to be unusually heavy this year.

No weather forecasts will be issued by Father Raymond Buckley, S. J., successor to the late Father Jerome S. Ricard at the University of Santa Clara, for at least two months. "I find here twenty-five years of hard and earnest work performed by Father Ricard, Father Henry and Dr. Albert J. Newlin, and it will take me some time to learn what they have accomplished," Father Buckley said.

Miss Enid Ringle, candidate of the Exeter Booster Club, will have the distinction of being "Miss Exeter" in the Raisin Day queen contest at Fresno. Miss Ringle was chosen for this honor in an elimination at Exeter Theater, being selected from a field of five fair candidates representing as many organizations of the city. The contest was held under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

An early supply of water was assured residents of Danville and surrounding territory with the purchase by the California Water Service Corporation of the Booth and Abbott distributing system. The water company acquires one of the smallest public utilities in the State. Organized twenty-three years ago, the Booth and Abbott system has been operated by R. F. Booth of Danville and Mrs. Leona Abbott of Berkeley. It has fifty patrons.

Gov. Hunt of Arizona protested to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, against granting of a blanket permit to the Los Angeles Museum for archeological exploration on a large area of government lands in this State. The Arizona executive's dispatch said he had been advised such a permit had been issued. "The practice of removing priceless relics and landmarks from Arizona to outside museums and institutions must stop," Gov. Hunt said.

Mapping of the forest and brush cover types of Santa Barbara National Forest was recently completed. The forest, the largest in California, contains 1,772,555 acres. It was the most difficult forest yet surveyed in the type-mapping project now under way in California by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, with the aid of State and county forestry agencies. Pack stock was necessary to work a large part of the rugged mountain country. The San Bernardino and the Angeles Forests in southern California have already been surveyed, and work on the Cleveland National Forest, lying largely in San Diego County, will be done this spring.

San Francisco's proudest boast, that its great harbor could accommodate all the fleets of the world with room to spare, may be put to the test before the year is out. Every naval power will be formally invited to send squadrons of warcraft here late next September to participate in an amplified Harbor Day celebration, which will be this city's colorful contribution to the current state 'de Fiesta Year. All that remains to be done before the bids are issued through official channels is for the United States battle fleet to first reveal on just what dates in late September it will be "at home" in man-o'-war row here, if other more pressing engagements do not interfere. Harbor Day here, tentatively set for a date late in August, will be but the high point of an entire fiesta week designed to surpass even the old time Portola celebrations. Plans for the entire affairs are being formulated by joint committees of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, central State Chamber of Commerce, central coast district, with Donald Kieffer, member of the junior chamber's marine committee, seeking navy co-operation in the event.

A letter urging the utmost conservation of water by users in the Sacramento valley as an aid to navigation was received from the army engineer's office at Sacramento by Norton Ware, chief engineer of the Sutter-Butte Canal Company.

A plan to have the San Mael-Half-moon Bay link of the proposed San Joaquin-to-the-Sea highway included in the state highway system will be presented the Legislature in 1932, Justice of the Peace John J. McGrath stated at San Mateo.

Colonies of bees that had established a home in the upper walls of the McKinley School of Gridley this spring were wiped out. A long hose was attached to the exhaust pipe of an automobile and gas pumped into the walls.

Because he was found by deputy sheriffs attempting to charm a live rattlesnake, Joe Trutalli, aged Gilroy recluse, was in the county jail recently. Trutalli terrified neighbors with his antics with the snake and informed officers the reptile was his "little pet, which wouldn't hurt him for the world." Deputies disposed of the pet with a revolver.

Recognizing the importance of protecting the forest, watersheds and recreational areas of northern California from fire, the Siskiyou County Board of Supervisors passed resolutions recently for the appointment of a committee with authority and funds, as representatives of the board, to prevent fires, and called on the entire population of the county to do its share. Invitations were sent to neighboring counties urging them to cooperate by carrying on similar fire prevention activity.

The first lug of potatoes from the Shafter district was shipped recently by K. H. Sieman, prominent farmer of the district, who consigned the lug to Sacramento. It brought 6 cents per pound. This is a very early shipment for the Shafter district. Buford Fox, assistant agricultural commissioner, said. Car shipments from the district are expected between May 1 and 5, next, Fox said. There are 5000 acres of potatoes planted in the county this season, most of the acreage lying in the Shafter and Wasco districts.

The apathy of Californians toward the problem of roadside beauty received a broadside recently from a national scenic highway expert, Mrs. W. L. Lawton, New York, who has just completed a 5000 mile survey of California roadside problems for the California Council for the Protection of Roadside Beauty. Mrs. Lawton, a member of the national council, particularly scored the recently published report of a joint legislative commission, named in 1929 to make recommendations for regulation of highway buildings. "There are hundreds of billboards along the roads of California that not only menace beauty but are located on sharp curves and intersections, and tend to distract the attention of motorists from their driving," she said.

Completing a grand round of the southern counties of this State, California's veteran highway men officially dedicated a new quarantine station, erected by the Department of Agriculture at Yuma, Ariz., which will revolutionize quarantine methods. As explained by L. J. Burrud, the State's official host, incoming motorists are to be received as guests. Instead of entering California through a stable-like shed, they will find themselves in an impressive mission-type building, where they are to be received with a welcome. Incoming baggage will be inspected as heretofore, but reason for the inspection—fear of the fruit fly and kindred pests—will be explained in parlor language amid restful surroundings. Through this gateway increasing tides of motorists will presently be coming to the fiesta of the founding of Los Angeles, and the Olympic Games, and visitors will be made to feel they are entering a very hospitable country—through the front door. This is the first "glad-hand" quarantine station to be established, and the State Department of Agriculture proposes other gateways as soon as the Yuma experiment justifies the expectations of the statesmen responsible for it.

Claiming their industry as the only one of its kind in California, Art and E. C. Vierra of Moss Landing, in association with a San Francisco concern and a group of Japanese capitalists with headquarters in the Orient, are attempting to cultivate mammoth oysters near the mouth of Elkhorn slough, which empties into Monterey Bay. Within two years the Vierra brothers plan to have more than a billion shell fish growing in their hatchery. Natural advantages of the location favor the growth of the oysters, which are imported from Japan and allowed to grow and spawn in the local waters. Specimens have been known to grow as large as 15 inches. Growers declare they are at their best if gathered for the market when about five inches long. In their native Japan it takes about four years for the baby oysters to mature, but in Moss Landing they are ready for the market within a year. The present crop, planted a few months ago, will be ready for consumers about Thanksgiving time, according to the Vierras. Development of the baby oyster is carefully watched by S. Mayagi, Japanese scientist and shell fish expert, one of the Vierra associates, who came from Japan especially to supervise the industry until it is established on a firm basis.

Hung Wah, of Placerville, sole remaining pioneer Chinese of the gold-rush days of California, died recently at County Hospital at the age of 96. He came to California when only 5 years of age.

Virginia Schulte has been elected president of the 4-H Club of Monterey County, it has been announced. Other officers are Ben Pierce, vice president, and Evelyn Freden, secretary. Plans are being formulated for the annual 4-H Club encampment May 9 and 10 at Asilomar.

INCREASE COUNTY TRAFFIC OFFICERS

The San Mateo county board of supervisors was advised last Monday by E. Ramon Cato, new superintendent of the California highway patrol, that San Mateo county is in line for five extra traffic patrolmen, and the board was asked to submit the names of five competent candidates.

The increase in the personnel of the San Mateo county force is contemplated almost immediately to meet "growing traffic conditions," according to Cato. The increase was seen as a move on the part of state officials to stem the tide of fatal accidents on the Bayshore boulevard in this county, which have claimed twenty-three victims since the first of the year. Cato did not state to what highway the new officers would be assigned for duty, but it is believed that at least three more patrolmen will be placed on the Bayshore boulevard.

The need of a greater police watch on the Bayshore boulevard to reduce speeding and reckless driving, held as factors responsible for the majority of deaths, was brought home to state officials recently.

The board will prepare the list of names at the next meeting, May 4, and submit them to Cato.

The San Francisco supervisors' joint committee on police and public buildings was scheduled to appear before this board at a special meeting on Thursday to ask permission to erect San Francisco's new county jail on a site on the San Mateo county coastside, north of Half Moon Bay. A letter requesting the special conference was received from the San Francisco board. The committee met on April 14 and discussed the merits of several jail sites on the coastside, the letter said. It did not state which site the San Francisco board would ask permission to erect the jail on, however.

Improvement of the upper two miles of the Gazos creek road from Pigeon Point to Big Basin, with $7,000 available from the fund created six years ago, providing an adequate fire escape from the state park, was ordered by the board as "emergency work," on recommendation of County Surveyor James S. James. The road will be widened and sharp turns will be eliminated. Surveyor James said the money would be insufficient to open up a new route, planned two years ago, and that improvement of the old road was the best course.

Extension of Nineteenth avenue across Seal creek to the San Mateo-Hayward bridge, involving construction of a wooden bridge across the creek, will be considered in the new budget, the board decided.

Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown has been reported favorable to paying for the extension as far as Seal creek out of her Second township road fund. The extension, 7,700 feet long, with a graded 30-foot width and temporary 20-foot paving consisting of a six-inch rock base oiled and screened, and the wooden bridge will cost approximately $32,370, according to Surveyor James' detailed report.

Estimated cost of a proposed diagonal short cut from the vicinity of Belmont to the San Mateo-Hayward bridgehead was ordered after discussion. Mayor Chris Jordan of Belmont asked for a quick route to the bridge from Belmont. Mayor Daniel Stafford stated he believed it would be of greater benefit if the road were started nearer Redwood City.

Purchase of a tank truck for Fire Warden Bert Werder for fire-fighting purposes this summer, at a cost of $4,000, was ordered. The cost will be provided for in the new budget.

SPRING FLOWER SHOW TO BE HELD APRIL 25-26

A riot of rich color will greet the eye at the Spring Flower Show to be given in San Mateo by the Burlingame-San Mateo Garden and Flower Club on April 25 and 26. The Peninsula Avenue school will be the scene of this gay assemblage of wild flowers, cultivated blooms, ferns, potted plants and designs of boats and airplanes made in flowers.

A. J. Butler, of Burlingame, president of the Club, announces that the grammar and high schools of the two towns, the Boy Scouts and many other groups are working assiduously on miniature gardens, floral art prints and pressed flower booklets.

With prizes offered for best baskets of wild flowers, vases of California poppies, and roses, sweet peas, tulips, delphiniums, iris and stocks, our olfactory nerves should lead the way. To stimulate interest in the "old-fashioned," even in gardens, one of the prizes will be for "the best vase of old-fashioned flowers, as grown in your mother's garden."

The lovely peninsula estates will send elaborate exhibits of rhododendrons, roses, tulips, foliage and blooming pots, and novelties in plants and flowers.

Mrs. C. W. Sait, of Burlingame, secretary of the garden club, asks that amateurs and professionals exhibit, as it is desired that everyone should feel a personal interest in the show.

COUNTY TAXPAYERS PAY $78,000 IN A DAY

San Mateo county taxpayers last Monday established a record which is likely to stand for a long time to come, when they paid slightly over $78,000 through the windows of Tax Collector Ambrose McSweeney's office in Redwood City in the eight and one-half hours between 9 A. M. and 5:30 P. M. The money represents second installments of the 1930-1931 county taxes.

Never before was there such a rush to pay taxes on the last day, according to Mr. McSweeney. All day a long and steady stream of people filed through the office, and most of the time the line extended the length of the corridor outside.

One of the biggest individual payments was received in Monday's mail. It was a check from the city of San Francisco for $94,849, representing the second installment of taxes on San Francisco's water lands in this county, formerly owned by the Spring Valley Water Company.

JEFFERSON UNION HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

On last Tuesday evening a special meeting of the Jefferson Union high school board of trustees was called to consider plans for widening Mission street. There was a full attendance of the board. Mayor H. H. Smith was present as an invited guest. Trustee Vireno, who is a member of the joint committee on widening Mission street, reported to the board details of the proposed plan as shown by a drawing made by the city engineer's office in San Francisco. The board expressed its appreciation of the efforts of the several committees working to carry out this project, which will be of such benefit to the community.

At the last C. S. F. meeting the members gave talks on the proceedings of the convention which was held at Palo Alto. The round tables which they attended were on the following subjects: Chapter presidents, finances, publicity, and social activities.

A coaching system is being introduced by the C. S. F. Any student who needs assistance with his work, is being helped by C. S. F. members in their spare periods. In doing this, they expect to show their worth as honor society members. In order to become acquainted with the peninsula and San Francisco schools that belong to the C. S. F., the Jefferson chapter intends to hold in the near future a meeting and dance, to which these schools will be invited.

At a conference of executives held at Burlingame, Saturday, April 18, Jefferson was represented by five delegates, Miss Effie Potter, Alfred Hoar, Herman Kalinin, Dorothy Riddell, and Maxine Slaght. After roll call the principal of Burlingame high school gave a short talk. There was then a round table discussion for students only, while the teachers attended a teachers' meeting. Maxine spoke on assemblies, Herman about athletics, Dorothy Riddell on dances, and Alfred on school problems in general.

The Honor Society of Jefferson Union high school recently received a communication from the Red Cross, expressing their thanks for the funds which the society appropriated to relieve the distress of the drought sufferers in the South. The C. S. F. Chapter held a sandwich sale some time ago to raise money for the sufferers. The letter which was received with the receipt for the amount sent, expressed appreciation of the fine spirit of helpfulness shown by Jefferson's Honor Society.

Editor Record:
This little poem, "A Man the World Mourns," appeared in the "Newtowns Chronicle" (Ireland), a few weeks ago. I should like to have you publish it because of its bearing on the character of our departed friend, Superintendent W. J. Savage.
JAMES FERGUSON.

A MAN THE WORLD MOURNS

Not—"How did he die?"
But—"How'd he live?"
Not—"What did he gain?"
But—"What did he give?"
These are the units
To measure the worth
Of a man, as a man,
Regardless of birth.

Not—"What is his station?"
But—"Had he a heart?"
And—"Did he play
His God-given part?"
"Was he ever ready
With a word of good cheer
To bring back a smile,
To banish a tear?"

Not—"What was his church?"
Nor—"What was his creed?"
But—"Had he befriended
Those really in need?"
Not—"What did the sketch
In the newspaper say?"
But—"How many were sorry
When he passed away?"

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bairreuther, well known Daly City residents, entertained friends and relatives last Wednesday night at their home in the Rosenbaum apartments, corner of Los Olivos and Santa Barbara. The occasion was the birthday of Mr. Bairreuther. The credit for arranging the apartment in festive style and for staging the successful event goes to Mrs. Bairreuther, who knows how on an occasion of this sort, being a local manager of the McMarr chain stores. Besides guests from Daly City, many friends and relatives from Oakland and other east bay points attended. When the party broke up at 1 A. M., Mr. Bairreuther had still refused to reveal his age.

Mrs. Sara Iselin, who died in New York last week at the age of 80, set these qualifications for those whom she considered eligible for her social circle: Aristocratic ancestry and wealth to maintain it; a house in New York, another in Newport, villas in France and Italy, and a lodge in Scotland. It would be interesting to know how her ideas are working out on the other side of the Styx.

AMERICAN DESERT OASIS GETS LINK WITH OUTSIDE

Twenty-nine Palms, one of the most picturesque oases in the Colorado desert, now boasts of a telephone, a link to the new transcontinental line some six miles away. Twenty-nine Palms is located about half way across the desert, along the trail between Whitewater and Amboy. Its sheltering palms and cool springs have provided a haven for many a weary and thirsty wanderer in years gone by. It has the setting of an oasis of Arabia or Africa, rather than that of a typical southwestern desert. In recent times it has become a mecca for tourists and now boasts of a hotel and a cluster of buildings, but up to a few weeks ago it lacked telephone connection. The building of the new line across the desert, however, has now made such connection possible.

The eyes of a man in Maine are said to magnify everything he sees, making objects look many times their real size. He can probably tell some tall fish stories.

The White House has its annual Easter egg-rolling, and when Congress is in session the Capitol has its daily log-rolling.

MAYOR AND WIFE INJURED IN CRASH

Mayor C. A. Buck of Burlingame and his wife were injured, Mrs. Buck seriously, when their automobile left the highway between Saratoga and Mountain View last Monday and struck a telephone pole. Mrs. Buck's chest was crushed and she suffered serious cuts and bruises and shock. Mayor Buck was cut and bruised. The accident was the result, it is said, of a car in front of the Buck machine swerving, the mayor turning his car from the road in order to avert a collision.

That there's no accounting for tastes is again evidenced by the fact that Europe's greatest recipient of fan mail is a hangman, Anton Broumansky, of Prague. Last year he is said to have had some 6,000 letters offering marriage from girls and women, ranging in age from 15 to 60.

SPLINTERS

From the H. H. Smith Lumber Yard

VOLUME 4 FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1931 NUMBER 39

Published in the interests of the People of Daly City and vicinity by H. H. Smith and Employees.

Everybody wants a home; even in a rented house you are constantly trying to make the place over into a home. A home is not merely a shelter; it is a part of you and you are a part of it. It reflects your tastes and expresses your notions of beauty, comfort and happiness so far as you can make it do so.

For Score Cards for Whist Parties, call at this office.

Country Cousin (in town): "Out in the country we have to treat the maids and other help like members of the family." City Cousin: "Goodness! Really? Here we have to treat them with great respect."

"Your head is sadly in need of a shampoo, sir." Building Material Merchant: "Yes; and your house needs a good new roof, but I haven't nagged you about it."

Screen Doors and Windows. She: "What shape, would you say, is a kiss?" He: "Give me one and we'll call it square."

"I hear she's been taking singing lessons abroad." "Well, that's certainly thoughtful of her."

Try our Coal and Wood.

Simple Subtraction Nine little hot dogs Sizzlin' on a plate; In came the boarders, Then they were ate.

Slow Poke: "Mister Jackson, er—that is, I would like to, er—that is, I mean I have been going with your daughter five years." Old Man: "Well, whadda you want—a pension?"

Next Please Customer (to her boy who has just been given a cookie by the clerk): "James, what do you say?" James: "Gimme another."

Screen Doors and Window Screens.

The fool finds excuses, the wise man remedies.
